WIC Approved Foods: Least Expensive Brand

There continues to be inquiries regarding availability of the least expensive brand of specific WIC approved food items. WIC participants must purchase the least expensive brand of several categories of approved food items available at the store at the time of purchase.

Least expensive WIC approved foods are defined by what the retailer has in stock, by advertised pricing and coupons that the participant offers at the time of purchase. The store brand may or may not be the least expensive at the time of purchase. If the more commonly identified least expensive brand noted in the Retailer's Point of Sale system is unavailable at the time of purchase, the participant is able to purchase the least expensive brand on the shelf or in the store's onsite inventory.

Important Note: A manager override may be required for items that flag as "not WIC eligible" in the Point of Sale system, but actually are.

Least expensive food categories are:

Milk
Fish
Cheese
Juice
Eggs
