

Client Name: _____

Tuberculosis Education Record

Communication methods should be adapted to client's cultural and linguistic background. Provide education to the client and his/her family (when possible) regarding the following topics. Education is a on-going process that can be considered complete when the client is able to verbalize the concepts or demonstrate the behavior back to the provider. Utilize the 12 Points of Tuberculosis (TB) Patient Education with this form.

Educational Point	Date began / comments on patient understanding	Date continued / comments on patient understanding	Date completed / comments on patient understanding
Transmission of tuberculosis
Differences between LTBI & Active TB Disease
Progression of LTBI to Active Disease
Signs and symptoms of disease
Importance of HIV testing
Respiratory isolation & use of masks
Infectious period
Importance of chemotherapy as prescribed
Side effects and adverse medication reactions
Directly Observed Therapy (DOT)
Importance of regular medical assessments
Importance of contact investigation			